

March 27, 2017 | 11:30 am-1:30 pm

Sustainable Agriculture Research in the Next Farm Bill

Rayburn House Office Building, Room 2043, Washington, DC 20515

Agriculture and related industries contributed $985 billion to the US GDP in 2014. How will research keep up with demand, particularly in sustainable agriculture, one of the fastest-growing parts of the farm economy? Scholars from four diverse universities will discuss federally-funded agriculture research.

Carolyn Dimitri

Associate Professor &
Director, Food Studies
PhD Program, New York University

Casey Hoy

Professor of Entomology
& Kellogg Endowed Chair
in Agricultural Ecosystems
Management, The Ohio
State University

Sabine O'Hara

Dean & Director of Land-grant Programs, College of Agriculture, Urban Sustainability & Environmental Sciences, University of the District of Columbia

L. Ann Thrupp

Executive Director,
Berkeley Food Institute,
University of California,
Berkeley

Lunch will be provided. For more information, email foodinstitute@berkeley.edu.

Berkeley Food Institute is a collaboration between the schools of Law, Public Policy, Natural Resources, Environmental Design, Public Health, Business, and Journalism at the University of California, Berkeley. Learn more at food.berkeley.edu

Berkeley Food Institute

23 Giannini Hall #3100, Berkeley CA 94720

foodinstitute@berkeley.edu

(510) 643-8821